MONROE COUNTY EXECUTIVE ADAM BELLO ANNOUNCES LAST DAY OF GOLF

*Monroe County's golf courses will close for the season
Sunday, November 12*

ROCHESTER, NY — Monroe County Executive Adam Bello today announced that Sunday, November 12, is the last day of golf at Monroe County's Durand Eastman, Genesee Valley and Churchville golf courses.

"Golf season may be ending soon but with the additions made to our courses this year including new paved cart paths and improved drainage and irrigation systems, golfers can look forward to a better golfing experience for years to come," said County Executive Bello. "I encourage everyone to take advantage of the final days of the season by visiting our parks and playing one last round before the courses close on Sunday."

Discounted rates of play listed below will remain in effect through November 12:

Durand Eastman, Genesee Valley (North Course) and Churchville (East Course)

- 9 holes walking = $10
- 9 holes riding = $17
- 18 holes walking = $13
- 18 holes riding = $27

Genesee Valley (South Course) and Churchville (West Course)

- 9 holes walking = $8
- 9 holes riding = $15
- 18 holes walking = $11
- 18 holes riding = $25
